A SHOCKING SIGHT.

There was a terrible scene yesterday evening in Sidi Emad Street, in the Labbane quarter of Alexandria. A native fruit seller was filling a lamp with petroleum when his clothes caught fire and he rushed madly into the street, all in flames. A crowd followed the frantic man, who presented an awful spectacle. Some persons felled him to the ground, tore off his clothes and covered him with dust. This probably saved his life and he was taken, much charred, to hospital. His shop also took fire.

Description of the Match.

(Gazette's Special Service.)

LONDON, April 20.

Bromwich met Barnsley in the final of the English Cup on the Crystal Palace ground to-day. The weather was beautiful and a crowd of at least sixty thousand people were present, who followed the game with eager interest, cheering repeatedly.

There was a fine struggle between the two [illegible] in scoring, however, the match being left a d[illegible] Bromwich, at the outset, were distinctly the superior side, and throughout the first half they did most of the attacking. But they could not penetrate the Barnsley defence, which was remarkably sound, and half-time arrived without a goal having been scored.

In the second half the Barnsley forwards waked up and matters became very lively. Both sides attacked alternately, making strenuous efforts to score. But the defence at both ends was superb, the goal-keepers saving many difficult shots, and the backs breaking up combination after combination.

The end came with the score sheet still empty, and the match will have to be replayed, —probably on Wednesday.

THE NILE DISASTER.

REFLOATING OF THE S.S. ASLAN.

Who is Responsible ?

We have been informed by the Hamburg and Anglo American Nile Company that it has successfully lifted the S.S. Aslan, of the Bateau Omnibus Company, which sank on the day of Shem el-Nessim, from its position at the bottom of the Nile and the ill-fated steamer has been carried across the river into shallow water.

The total number of corpses found up to date is nine. The body of Selim Coben, [illegible] among the lost, has not as yet [illegible] The two reisses of the Aslan and the [illegible] a sailor are still under arrest. The Chief of the Native Parquet, Rizgallah Bey Simaïka, is still enquiring into the circumstances of the collision. About thirty witnesses have already given evidence and on Saturday two engineering experts gave evidence. It is considered extraordinary that although sixteen days have elapsed since the catastrophe took place the exact number of victims has not as yet been ascertained.

There has been an outcry in the press on the subject of regulations for Nile navigation and it was considered very negligent on the part of authorites that no regulations on this matter were in force. But to the general surprise it has since been discovered that navigation regulations have been in force since 1890 and the regulations of 1890 were modified in 1909. However, as these regulations were not enforced, they were apparently forgotten. The "Bourse Egyptienne," in an article on this subject, remarks as follows: Nous demandions une loi et nous en avions deux: quelle ignorance était la notre et comme le gouvernement a bien raison de ne pas nous entendre. Il y a bien des grincheux qui trouvent à redire sous prétexte que ces Règlements n'étaient [illegible] usage, mais qu'est ce que peut bien signifier leur protestation. Il y a des règlements, c'est l'essentiel: peu importe qu'ils soient lettre morte. L'opinion publique ne saurait prétendre davantage, alors que le Conseil Législatif s'occupe même d'en faire décréter un troisième.

THE GERMAN CHURCH.

New Building Consecrated.

The German Evangelical community in Cairo held yesterday morning an impressive service at which their beautiful new Church was inaugurated. The Corps Diplomatique of Cairo, Prince Hatzfeldt, several judges of the Mixed Court, General Sir John Maxwell, M. Mohl of the Caisse de la Dette and over 500 ladies, gentlemen and children were present. A representative sent by the German Emperor was also present, as well as a dignitary of the Greek Orthodox Church.

The Emperor's envoy walked up to the Pastor of the Church and handed him [illegible] cornered and plated bible, as the gift of His Majesty the Kaiser.

The sermon was preached by Probst Jeremiah, pastor of the German Church at Jerusalem. His text was taken from Isaiah 19, 19-20: 'In that day shall there be an altar to the Lord in the midst of the land of Egypt, and a pillar at the border thereof to the Lord and it shall be for a sign and a witness."

In the gallery a choir of some 50 persons sang the famous No. 13 of Haydn's "Creation.' The singing was accompanied by the organ and a band of twenty stringed and brass instruments, and did much credit to the ability of Mr. Metaschk, the director and Mr Konig, the organist. Mrs. Yenni-Dunia with Mr. Hayes rendered the solo passages most excellently.

The Church cost £10,000 to build, and has a seating capacity for 350 persons. It is built in the style now in fashion in Germany, of one big hall adapted to the acoustic requirements of the pulpit. Most of the Church furniture was given by members of the community.

The service ended with the organ playing the famous "Hallelujah" chorus from Handel.

THE CIGARETTE STRIKE.

ATTITUDE OF THE COMPANY.

Important Telegram from Europe.

The following is a translation of the text of a long cable, sent from Mr. Laurens, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the well-known cigarette company, which was received yesterday at the Alexandria offices of the Company. From the tone of this telegram it will be seen that the Company is determined to take up a firm stand against the ringleaders of the strike, whose conduct had led to grave injuries [illegible]ted on a number of unfortunate workmen, three of whom have been so [illegible]ously hurt that they are still under treatment in hospital, while about twenty others have also sustained less severe injuries. The following is the text of the telegram:—

WIESBADEN, 21st April.

The Board of the Ed. Laurens Company, "[illegible] Khedive," in view of the incidents that have arisen from the strike at its Alexandria manufactory, thinks it its duty to make a statement to the authorities of the city, the public, the press and the mass of its workmen, leaving out the ringleaders. To the authorities it addresses its respectful thanks for the help so loyally given in order to assure liberty of work, the protection of the workmen, who did not strike, and the security of life and property, and the many efforts made to bring about an honorable peace on satisfactory foundations.

To the section of the population, who suffered from the disorders, the Board expresses regrets for the troubles thus brought about much against its will. To the general public and the newspapers, interested in the present conflict, the Board thinks it a duty to publish explanations, as it ought also to protest against the hostile tendencies and the un[illegible] judgments of a small minority of [illegible]rmed individuals and newspapers.

The ground work of the struggle is mainly as follows. The ringleaders want the recruitment and dismissal of the cigarette worker not to depend on the mangement any longer, but to be settled by a committee of the workmen, who would also regulate the varying individual action and would decide on the quality of work furnished by each cigarette-maker. The Board refused to admit these pretensions, which are contrary to logic and common sense, leaving out of the question the immorality and complete insecurity that such a state of things would engender in consequence of the intrigue and bargaining that would ensue, and which are also against the interests of the good workers.

The second point in the dispute is as regards the wish of the strikers to take on the staff of hands, including the ringleaders. The Board thinks it a duty it owes to the general internal order of the works and to the security of the workmen to refuse to take on the men, who caused the disturbances and outrages. The Board informs its hands, who did not strike and those, who were forced to strike, that it wishes them well and that they have its grateful consideration. Among them are some of very long standing and all are trusty workmen of worth and honour. It expresses to them its keen sorrow for the present. It appeals to their conscience and puts to each of them the question whether they do not think that the Company has always done its best for them, as regards its best efforts to assure good wages, regular payment, doctor's help, miscellaneous aid, health, comfort, justice and general solicitude on their behalf. All are aware that not in Egypt, nor in Europe, is there a cigarette manufactory where the essential conditions are better assured that at the Laurens works.

The good cigarette-makers, who form the [illegible] of the victims, are only a small minority compared with the ringleaders. 250 cigarette-makers are prevented from getting their livelihood regularly and orderly by from 40 to [illegible] irresponsible persons. The strike in the cigarette workshops has lasted a month, but [illegible] of the [illegible] Board has had [illegible] packing, box making, tubes, tin, forwarding, etc., owing to the tragic events of the 17th April, which were caused by agents of the ringleaders in the cigarette-makers department, and has had to thus dismiss, to secure the safety of the staff in general, all the hands in the workshops where there was no strike.

Thus it is that almost one thousand men are thrown out of work owing to a handfull of cigarette makers. The Board has not shut up the factory by way of reprisals nor out of spite, but owing to its foresight in regard to public and private order. Since the 25 years that the factory exists, there has never been an attempt at a general stoppage. All the responsibility lies with the ringleaders.

The Board calls the attention of the numerous workmen to the ever-growing difficulties of the exportation of Egyptian cigarettes.

It is only the Egyptian industry of cigarette making that has to pay the Turkish tax of Mirourie, very heavy Egyptian Customs duty, the taxes on all secondary produce, and the [illegible]usively hand-making production of all cigarettes, even the inferior qualities. The [illegible]ity of these charges are not paid by [illegible]pean manufacturers, who with the protection laws, increase every year their production of cigarettes, to the detriment of the Egyptian industry, which has to compete very severely.

The Board appealed to the good sense of the workmen and shewed them that their interest and those of the company were mutual. The Laurens workmen, produce more than one-third of the whole of the Egyptian export production. The Company by its assiduous efforts and hard work, spends large sums of money in order to obtain work from foreign countries for their workmen, and bring them many thousands of pounds without counting the large sums of money paid to the Egyptian Custom House, for all of which no direct profit is obtained from this country. The profits that this company gets from its productions is quite out of proportion to the sums of money disbursed by them to the Customs and for workmen's salaries.

The Board wish to point out to their workmen that the statistics shew that out of the total of the average profits realized on the sale, eight tents are absorbed by the wages of the workmen in Alexandria.

To conclude, the Board invites the workmen, ringleaders excluded, to bear in mind the good relations that have existed between them and the management for the past quarter of a century, and to remember the unity of interests between them and the Company, and finally not to put the Company to the unfortunate necessity of having to move its entire establishment, soon and for ever, to Europe.

Relying on the foresight, the love of work and order of each worker, the Board renews its good relations to all its staff excepting the ringleaders.

THE COMPTOIR CASE.

This Morning's Judgment.

This morning the Mixed Commercial Court at Alexandria gave judgment in the action of the Comptoir Financier against the Bank of Athens and the Banque d'Orient, which was reported at length in our columns. The Comptoir gains the case as to the "ordres verbaux" and also on the £25,000, amount of the famous cheque of George Zervudachi. It also gains in the "creance Karam," which returns to it. On the other hand the Comptoir loses, jointly and severally with Zoucas, the total of the bill of £50,000.

The Comptoir had as debts £113,000. By this morning's judgment it gains £63,000. That is to say, that after the extinction of the debt the Comptoir is still creditor of the two banks to the amount of £13,000.

SHEIKH SHAWISH'S ORGAN.

It is announced in the native press that the Ministry of the Interior has decided to prevent the circulation in Egypt of Sheikh Shawish's Constantinople organ, "Al Hilal el Osmani," owing to it containing criticisms of the Khedive and of the Egyptian Government. The paper, however, is still on sale in Alexandria.

THE TOURIST TRAFFIC.

THE NEW ASSOCIATION.

Important Meeting at Shepheard's.

A large meeting was held at Shepheard's Hotel, on Saturday afternoon, at which were present representative of all firms which are, either directly or indirectly, interested in the tourist business in this country.

Mr. Harrison, Manager of the firm of Thos. Cook and Son, Egypt, Ltd., was unanimously chosen president.

Mr. Harrison said that the objects of the association they had just started came under two general heads, namely (1) aggressive, and (2) defensive. They were aggressive in so far as they would try to bring prosperity to Egypt in general by wise and judicious advertising. etc, etc., and defensive in that they would endeavour to contradict any false and malicious reports about Egypt which interested correspondents in Europe tried to circulate, with the sole intention of doing harm to this country. Since 1894 a huge sum of money running into eight or nine figures had been spent on railways, hotels, tramways and other conveniences of accommodation and transport in Egypt. And what had been the result? Speaking from memory, he could say that the total tourist traffic showed little advance on 1894. It was true that we now have a larger number coming in, but these stayed such a short time. The season lasts practically only from early in January to about the third week in March; whereas in former years tourists came earlier and stayed late. Tourists were the only assets against the vast liabilities he had referred to. Therefore it should be their object to lengthen the season. The aim of that meeting and of the new association was to see how this object might be achieved.

The New Committee.

He reminded the meeting that the self-appointed committee which was seated round that table, and which the meeting had confirmed, was not irremovable. They had to begin somehow, and so those who were ready to subscribe something towards a beginning were appointed on the executive. They still required two members to bring their number up to nine. These two they would leave it to the meeting to propose and send in to them for confirmation. Since the seven now present represented the transport and hotel interests, he suggested that the two new members should represent other interests in connection with the tourist traffic. The duties of the executive consisted in advertising in Europe and America. The details would be arranged by the Committee. Then they would have correspondents at the principal towns and cities of the Continent who would keep them informed of any false and malicious reports that might be circulating in Europe, tending to disparage Egypt as a healthy and safe winter resort. At the end of each year there would be a report of all business transacted, and a balance sheet of income and expenses.

The Sinews of War.

But no work could be accomplished, went on Mr. Harrison, without the sinews of war. The little sum already subscribed was very small, and if the Committee was to do any effective aggressive work, he heartily called upon all present to subscribe. Some measure would also be taken to secure the co operation of the press in this country. Finally, he might add that there would also be a general committee of which any subscriber of over L.E. 1 might become a member. Special forms would be sent round to all those desirous to subscribe, and a regular receipt would be given by Messrs. Cook and Son. (Cheers).

As an example of how happenings in Egypt are exaggerated in Europe a newspaper cutting was handed round in which a picture of the Aslan is given, making this boat look like a large pleasure cruiser belonging to Cook and Son. The description too made the number [illegible]

LA REVUE DES ASTRES.

Les "Astres" avaient invité leurs amis,—et ils sont nombreux, à revenir les applaudir samedi soir au Savoy Hotel. Le grand Hall était gaiement décoré de bannières et d'oriflammes. Au fond s'érigeait une scène dès plus coquettes, bleu ciel ornée de guirlandes de fleurs, et une importante assemblée de plus de quatre cents personnes occupait des rangées de chaises installées jusques dans les couloirs: Si les artistes amateurs surmontant leur trouble, avaient risqué un coup d'œil dans cette salle frémissante d'impatience quel n'ent pas été leur "trac"! Mais comme personne n'avait le "trac" il est fort probable que le Comte G. de Zogheb distingué manager impresario leur avait fait comprendre que tout amateur qui se respecte doit être aveugle comme l'amour! Et a les voir évoluer et chanter avec cette aisance sur l'étroit plateau de ce theatre miniature je me disais que les lauriers déjà cueillis chez Mme Mikalla Pacha avaient aguerri ces étoiles aux feux de la rampe.

"Mais déjà le rideau frissonne, j'entends au " loin l'heure qui sonne. Il nous va falloir " commencer" nous dit Mlle Sinano une très charmante fillette avec un aplomb et une sureté amusants au possible. Quelques amateurs de talent, et c'est inoui ce qu'il y a de talent parmi nos jeunes gens d'Alexandrie! pour corser le spectacle, ont chanté et dit des chansonnettes très appreciées du public. Mr. Fernand Suarès avec sa valse chantée et Mr. Colucci ont été beaucoup applaudis. Mr. Raymond Tuby dit bien et avec esprit, Mr. J. Griparis danse très gracieusement. Une mention spéciale pour Mlle et Mr. Mierkle qui, grimés a ravir en négres du plus beau noir ont eu un succés colossal dans leurs 'Coon songs." C'était parfait a tous les points de vue et... d'ouie.

La Revue des Astres était déjà connue de presque toute l'assistance, qui s'est de nouveau prodigieusement amusée aux allusions et aux petites rosseries sans méchanceté dites avec malice et esprit. Quelques nouveaux couplets d'actualité ont soulevé les fous rires M. Georges de Zogheb Jnr. en jockey a été des plus amusants dans ses nouveaux couplets sur l'air de "Malbrough s'en va-t-en guerre." Et M. G. Colucci a très spirituellement nuancé sa chanson sur. Le bal oriental.

Mme J. Bally a de nouveau été une Commère à la voix exquise, chantant ses chansons avec un acquit, une maestria remarquables, et de grande beauté dans sa toilette scintillante de mille feux argentés. Mme J. Dahan vive et de grâce mutine dans son rôle de Jouense. Ses boucles blanches lui donnaient l'aspect d'une grand' mère encore mineure. Mlles Fenderl, M. et J. Valassopoulo chantent et dansent avec talent et beauté.

M. Henri Debourg un rutillant Alexandre le Grand, très sûr de lui, s'est beaucoup amusé et nous a beaucoup amusé.

Le Compère M. Jac de Zogheb Jnr. très 1830, très Vie de Bohème de Murger avec élégance et finesse détaille ses couplets et lance "le mot" du dialogue Mrs. Fenderl, Sévastopoulo, Benachi, Paparigopulo et Davies tous excellents dans des silhonettes prises sur le vif, et les couplets de leurs différents rôles.

M. Hugo Fenderl tenait le piano avec autant de talent que de modestie.

Après des bis nombreux et de chaleureux applaudissements le rideau s'est baissé sur les couplets finals, et un souper joyeux a réuni les auteurs, MM. M. et J. Lombroso M. Jac de Zogheb, les artistes les parents et les amis.

Ensuite les danses ont commencé avec entrain et ce n'est qu'à une heure tardive ou plutôt matinale que s'est terminé cette jolie fête du talent, de l'élégance et de la beauté.

Il serait difficile de nommer toutes les personnes présentes, les colonnes du journal n'y suffiraient pas, nous avons pourtant reconnu au hasard des allées et venues après le spectacle:

Mme Mixalla Pacha en fourreau de satin blanc recouvert de riches dentelles d'argent, Mme Jacques Suarès très élégante toilette en mousseline de soie violette, le corsage en resilles de perles violettes aigrette de même teinte dans la coiffure, Mme Sevastopulo en satin blanc brodé de perles de cristal, Mme Aristide Cinano en satin blanc et belles dentelles d'Angleterre retennes par des rubans de velours rose ancien, Mme Rami en satin blanc voilé de mousseline de soie blanche, Baronne J. de Menasce en satin noir et superbes dentelles anciennes Mme M. de Zogheb, Mme Antoine Benachi, Mme Michel Salvago, Mlle Léo Pally en satin rose et broderies d'argent, Baronne J.
